

RIFT BETWEEN U.S., RUSSIA WIDENS

SOVIET VETOES
KEEP AUSTRIA,
ITALY OUTSIDEAROUSES ANGRY CRY
AGAINST BIG POWER VOTE

Lake Success, Aug. 21 (AP)—Russia vetoed the aspirations of Italy and Austria for membership in the United Nations today and provoked an angry outcry over the big power voting privilege the Soviet Union now has used 18 times to block security council majorities.

Argentina moved swiftly to seek abolition of the veto privilege by submitting a resolution for the consideration of the general assembly when it meets in New York Sept. 16.

The Argentine government asked that the assembly call a general conference of all the United Nations three days after the 55-nation body concludes its forthcoming session in order to consider revising the veto section of the U. N. charter.

This move was expected to set off the hottest battle in the assembly yet over the veto. Since the organization was founded the small powers have fought unsuccessfully to abolish this big power privilege.

As Russia ran her string of vetoes to seven for this week, Council President Faris El Khoury of Syria used unprecedented language in announcing that the Soviet Union had blocked Italy's membership in the U. N.

El Khoury said: "The resolution is obstructed by one of the permanent members of the council."

FORD-CIO TALKS
STILL BLOCKEDUnion Rejects Firm's Last Proposal On Pension Plan

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—Negotiations over a new contract between the Ford Motor company and the CIO United Auto Workers encountered fresh obstacles tonight.

The union's Ford council, acting in advisory capacity for 107,000 Ford production workers, rejected the company's most recent proposal on a pension plan.

Vice President Richard T. Leonard of the union, whose recommendation for acceptance was turned down in a close council vote, was instructed to resume negotiations immediately with the company. The parley thereupon was resumed.

The company and union went back to the bargaining table just four hours before the effective moment—midnight—of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Still in doubt was the outcome of the union's presumed intention to secure its union shop clause. Under the Taft-Hartley law a union shop may be obtained only by a vote of the majority of a company's employees.

Leonard, however, said he preferred to continue "optimistic." He said he was hopeful an agreement could be reached in the course of the night.

Reduction In Meat
Supplies In 1948,
Report Indicates

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—A sharp reduction in 1948 meat supplies appeared inevitable today on the basis of an official report that a mid-western heat wave has cut corn prospects to the lowest level since the severe drought of 1936.

Prospects for a material reduction in meat prices next year faded. A reduced supply would tend to push prices higher if demand continues at the present high rate.

In a special report, the agricultural department estimated the corn crop at 2,437,000,000 bushels as of Aug. 1. This is a decline of 223,000,000 bushels from the department's Aug. 1 forecast.

Not since 1936, when the crop dropped to 1,505,000,000 bushels to cause a severe meat shortage in the following year, have production prospects been so small. By comparison, last year's record crop was 3,287,000,000 bushels, while the yield for the last ten years averaged about 2,639,000,000.

Department officials said it is possible for the crop to recover somewhat but not nearly enough to bring production to the 2,850,000,000-bushel mark which they say is needed to maintain meat production at this year's high level of 155 pounds a person.

Myers To Stay On State Fair Board

Lansing, Aug. 21 (AP)—Robert M. Myers, Lapeer editor who resigned from the Michigan State Fair board charging a "sell out" of the public interest, has agreed to remain on the board, Governor Sigler disclosed today.

Sigler announced the decision at a press conference after returning from a visit with Myers in Lapeer.

The governor reiterated remarks which he made when he refused Monday to accept Myers' resignation. Then, he said, he wanted Myers to stay to "fight for the things you believe to be right."

Cool On Coasts,
But Still Sticky,
Hot In Midwest

(By The Associated Press)
Cool, pleasant weather was the rule on both coasts Thursday, but almost everywhere in between it was hot, sticky and uncomfortable.

The Midwest's tenacious heat wave still hung on, with no prospect of relief in sight. At least 59 deaths were attributed to the heat, 30 in Chicago, two in downstate Illinois, 21 in Ohio, four in Indiana and two in Minnesota.

In Iowa, the weather bureau reported the first three weeks of August had been hotter than during the same period in 1936, year of the great drought.

50 Persons Hurt
In Theater Mishap

Meadville, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—Police reported approximately 50 people were injured tonight in the collapse of a large section of ceiling in the central part of the Park theater.

Two hours after the accident 34 persons had been treated or admitted to the city's two hospitals. The others received first aid at the scene.

The horse pulling contests last year attracted one of the largest crowds of fair week and unusual interest is being displayed this year. The two contests are being held separately this year because an open championship contest is being conducted in addition to the Upper Peninsula contest.

In the open class prizes totalling $400 are offered for the first 10 places. In addition $105 is offered to six place winners in the Upper Peninsula division. Special cash awards also will be made if either the Upper Peninsula or world's horse pulling records are bettered.

Today is old timers' day at the State Fair and another heavy attendance is predicted. The motorcycle races yesterday afternoon were witnessed by approximately 4,000 persons and a capacity crowd of about 5,000 attended the evening show.

Final Revue Today

In addition to the horse pulling contest this afternoon, the entire program of specialty acts will be presented in front of the grandstand. The final performance of the extravaganza, Winter Garden Revue, will be presented in front of the grandstand this evening.

Tomorrow is Farmers Day at the fair and the always popular WLS troupe will be featured in the grandstand attraction, afternoon and evening. Sunday is Thrill Day when Jimmy Lynch's famed Death Dodgers will present their thrilling automobile acts.

Charles Figy, commissioner of agriculture, spoke briefly at the fair yesterday and expressed the regrets of Governor Sigler for the governor's inability to attend the exposition.

SOVIET POLICY
IS EXPLAINEDMarxist Idea Of World
Revolt Followed
By Russia

BY J. M. ROBERTS JR.

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Russian foreign policy, reports the legislative service of the Library of Congress, is clearly based on the old Lenin and Marxist ideas of world revolution and the Soviets are willing to use any means to that end.

To anyone who has followed Russia's international relations, that is hardly news. But it does tend to take the conclusion out of the field of opinion and give it the stamp of fact. The library's legislative service is designed to answer any and all questions for congressmen. It does a job of pure research on a given subject.

The report, made to the Senate foreign affairs committee, says the desire "to make the whole world safe for Communism and Sovietism," lies at the base of Soviet foreign policy; that to achieve their goal the Russians "are prepared to play any card;" that the end, not the means, is important to them; that they are definitely aggressive and expansionist.

The expert does not say specifically that Russia intends to make war, but that seems well covered in the phrase "any card." The Russian army already has been used in the subjugation of neighboring states.

It is generally believed—although the speed with which Hitler was able to rebuild Germany's war potential despite foreign disbelief is not forgotten—that it will take Russia a long time to prepare for war against the western world. If she is doing so, it would seem that instead of displaying belligerence, she would wish to lull other nations into a false feeling of security.

The report, attempting to explain "not easily understood" Russian diplomatic moves, has a few words which answer that.

"It is often an organic part of the totalitarian technique for keeping the population in a state of heightened tension. The ever present phantom of an unprovoked foreign war serves as a well-kept excuse for the drabness of Soviet everyday life, the constant shortage of consumer goods and commodities, and for the further exertion and sacrifices asked from the Soviet population."

SEAGULLS LIKE WHISTLE

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—The city's giant reservoirs at Ashokan and Croton, N. Y., have been plagued by hordes of seagulls, so municipal fathers to give them a person's whistle to give them a earache and chase them away.

The department of water supply today dolefully announced the result: More seagulls plus a representative turnout of the area's dogs.

DEATH CALLS
THEO. BILBO,
NEGRO HATER'WHITE SUPREMACY' ADVOCATE WAS
69 YEARS OLD

New Orleans, La., Aug. 21 (AP)—Death came today for "the man" Bilbo, ending a two-weeks fight for his life and stilling his strident claims to a seat in the 80th Congress as Mississippi's senior senator. He was 69.

The vinegar-tongued, wizened politician, who won election in 1946 on a platform of "White supremacy," succumbed suddenly at Foundation hospital. It was a swift reversal of an apparent improvement yesterday when Bilbo sat up and declared he was "feeling fine."

Doctors gave "progressive heart failure" as the immediate cause of death. They said he had never rallied from an operation Monday to tie a vein and seal off the blood clot from the heart.

Center of bitter controversy, Theodore G. Bilbo maintained to the end his unqualified determination to take his seat in Washington. He denied charges that he had intimidated Negro voters in Mississippi's 1946 Democratic primary, and rejected allegations that he had accepted bribes from war contractors. Both accusations were made by Senate investigating committees.

He had entered Foundation hospital Aug. 7, suffering from a nerve inflammation which caused partial paralysis. But his health had been steadily failing since last January, when he returned to Mississippi for treatment without being allowed to take his seat. He had undergone one month operation for cancer at New Orleans in 1946, and returned for another in January, and for a third in June.

A master of scathing filibuster and a rough-and-tumble fighter in debate, Bilbo became a synonym for "White supremacy." He publicly acknowledged membership in the Ku Klux Klan, and introduced legislation in Congress to ship 13,000,000 American Negroes back to Africa. His anti-Negro views were summed up in a book which he published, entitled "Take Your Choice—Segregation or Mongrelization."

Bilbo's death will mean that Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi must now appoint a successor who will serve in the United States Senate until the general election of 1948. It also will mean that Mississippi next year will elect two U. S. Senators—one to fill four years of Bilbo's unexpired term, and one full term senator for the seat now held by James O. Eastland.

Wright, a strong Bilbo adherent, supported his Senate claims and declared last winter if he were disqualified he would immediately reappoint him.

Ex-Army Sergeant
On Probation For Taking Atom Papers

Pittsburgh, Aug. 21 (AP)—A husky, bespectacled ex-Army sergeant who admitted taking secret papers from an atomic bomb project today was placed on four years' probation in Federal district court here.

Alexander von Der Luft, 23-year-old Princeton senior, had pleaded guilty to two counts, charging stealing and concealing of government documents.

The former technical sergeant told Federal Judge Robert M. Gibson he took the papers because he wanted souvenirs. Their exact nature was not disclosed in court.

In a somewhat similar case, Ernest D. Wallis, 34-year-old Chicago photographer, was arrested on the same charges. Like von der Luft, Wallis was an ex-sergeant accused of taking secret documents while stationed on the same atomic bomb project.

The two men did not know each other. About 200 photographs and negatives were found in Wallis' studio.

SYMINGTON IS
1ST SECRETARY
OF AIR FORCESROYALL, SULLIVAN
GET ARMY, NAVY
ASSIGNMENTS

BY DOUGLAS E. CORNELL

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—W. Stuart Symington received a presidential appointment today as the first secretary of a separate department of the air forces under a unified national defense.

Symington has been assistant secretary of war for air under Secretary of War Royall. The latter was named secretary of the department of the army. Royall loses his cabinet office in the shift.

Undersecretary in the Navy John L. Sullivan drew the job of secretary of the navy department. He succeeds James V. Forrestal, who was appointed in July to be the first secretary of the unified department of national defense.

President Truman announced the assignments at a news conference. They will become effective about mid-September when Forrestal takes command of the defense organization and becomes its only representative in the cabinet.

All the appointments are recess designations. The Senate must pass on them when Congress reconvenes in January.

Other key positions will be filled later. Mr. Truman did not say how much later. These include chiefs of staff of the army and air forces and a chief of naval operations.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administrator, has been mentioned often as a likely successor to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as army chief of staff. Eisenhower is to retire early next year to become president of Columbia University in New York.

Still to be selected also are directors of a central intelligence agency, a national resources board, a munitions board and a research and development board.

The president himself will be the official head of a new national security council which will have the final say on defense policies.

Situation In Bond
Market Is Spotty

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—The bond market had a fair number of firm spots today, although the general run of corporates held within a narrow range and trends on an overall basis were somewhat cloudy.

A substantial part of the day's total trade of $3,074,000 was in various securities of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. which made financial news yesterday in announcing plans for a new issue of $354,000,000 of convertible debentures to help finance its big expansion and improvement program.

Today's sales compared with $4,580,000 on Wednesday.

GIs Beginning To Pawn Purple Hearts

Seattle, Aug. 21 (AP)—Seattle pawnshops are beginning to get requests for loans on Purple Heart medals, the Times reported today. Virtually all the requests are rejected.

"It's illegal to loan money on medals," one proprietor explained. One pawnshop owner said he did loan a former G. I. money on his Purple Heart.

"I'm not supposed to do it," he said, "but * * * I was a soldier myself and I just can't turn away a guy like that."

The G. I., he said, didn't come back for the medal.

Judge Grants
2 Youths Head
Start On Cops

Baltimore, Aug. 21 (AP)—Two young cousins strolled out to Baltimore city court today, past the arms of police waiting to arrest them and sped away in a car while the frustrated cops looked on, all with the blessing of a judge.

Judge Michael J. Manley kept the cops, from Maryland and Pennsylvania, at bay with an order that the cousins, William H. Miller, 18, and George R. Miller, 20, of Westminster, Md., be given a 15-minute head start.

The judge explained the head start was to avoid a possible automobile chase through downtown Baltimore. He instructed Assistant State's Attorney Alan H. Murrell to see that the order was enforced.

The Millers left in a hurry in a big gray sedan and several hours later police admitted they were still at liberty.

The "cat and mouse" game started earlier today when Pennsylvania police asked for the extradition of the Millers on charges of stealing airplane parts from Raymond Devenor's airport in Hanover, Pa. They fought removal.

1-MAN GRAND JURY FAVORED

Committee Cites Need For Protection Of Civil Rights

Lansing, Aug. 21 (AP)—With three dissenting votes, a special committee of the State Bar of Michigan recommended today that Michigan cling to its widely-debated one-man grand jury system.

But the majority report advocated certain statutory changes which would insure protection of civil rights, taking note of criticisms directed at the Ferguson grand jury in Detroit, the Ingham county grand jury investigating graft in state government and others.

The one-man grand jury system still is "far superior" to the ancient 23-man grand jury in efficiency, the majority report contended. It is more flexible, easier to administer, insures greater success, centralizes responsibility and brings to the task of ferreting out criminals the trained mind of a judge, the report said.

However, the committee proposed that the grand jury law be amended to require every grand jury petition be filed by a circuit or municipal court of record and be considered by at least three judges. The recommendation also would require an order for a grand jury to be more specific of the scope of inquiry planned.

The committee condemned the practice of grand jury officers using a subpoena as a warrant and requiring witnesses "forthwith" to appear at grand jury headquarters with their records.

The majority report was signed by Chairman and Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker of Detroit, Edward A. Biltske of West Branch, Roy E. Brownell, Flint; Earl W. Dunn, Grand Rapids; William L. Fitzgerald, Kalamazoo; Walter S. Foster, Lansing; Charles M. Humphrey, Ironwood; Dean W. Kelley, Lansing; Henry S. Sweeney, Detroit; Harry S. Toy, Detroit, and Stuart B. White, Niles.

TAFT-HARTLEY
ACT IN EFFECT
LAST MIDNIGHTNLRB EMPOWERED TO SETTLE AND HALT STRIKES

BY MAX HALL

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—Labor management relations moved into a new era under the Taft-Hartley act tonight as the government issued new rules and its conciliation service headed for a shake-up.

With the new law fully effective at midnight, these things happened:

1. The National Labor Relations board put more pressure on unions by announcing a strict policy regarding the hundreds of cases now pending before the board in Washington.

2. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce commended the new act and said that calling it a "slave labor law" is "absurd."

3. The AFL and CIO kept silent. Their policies toward the new act with its many curbs on unions have not been fully formed.

4. But the AFL, International Typographical Union, in convention at Cleveland, approved a policy of signing no more contracts with employers.

5. There were reports that the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, which comes into existence tomorrow, will begin with an important reshuffling of officials brought over the Labor department's conciliation service.

6. Another independent union, the Communications Workers of America, announced it has registered under the new law and its officers have provided sworn statements that they are not Communist sympathizers. The Machinists union registered yesterday.

Today was the final day of the Wagner act as it has existed since 1935, protecting rights of employees.

Some provisions of the Taft-Hartley act took effect June 23, when Congress passed the law. President Truman's veto. But most of it, including a thorough overhauling of the Wagner act, has an Aug. 22 effective date. The NLRB, which becomes mainly a labor court under the new law, announced it has 605 old cases pending.

The board ruled that 410 of these—which are petitions for (Continued on Page 14)

Key Nazis Remain
At Large In China

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The state department said today that a number of key Nazis who "might constitute the basis for resuscitation of Nazi power in the Far East" still are at large in China.

In a formal statement, the department said the United States is "deeply interested" in seeing them returned to Germany.

The department said a number of Germans were repatriated in June, 1946, and last February, but "many of them, however, managed to escape repatriation and still remain in China."

MASS PRODUCTION NOTE

Farmington, Conn., Aug. 21 (AP)—This has been mass production week in the stork department of Raymond P. Olson's dairy farm. Early in the week one of Olson's holsteins had triplets which were named Lock, Stock and Barrel. The next day, said Olson, another holstein had twins, both bulls. This pair, he said, was christened "Pat and Mike because they look alike."

AMERICA ASKS
CHINESE PORTDIPLOMATIC BLOWS
EXCHANGED OVER
GERMANY

BY EDWARD E. BOMAR

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The United States and Russia exchanged their breach today with new exchange of diplomatic blows over Germany's future industry and the Red army's continued control of the Chinese port of Dairen, while pulling farther apart on other issues too.

A Moscow note protesting the British-French-American conference due to open tomorrow in London on a proposed increase in production for Germany brought word from the state department that the conference will be held regardless of Russian objections.

Then the department disclosed that the United States has protested for a second time against Russia's failure to turn Dairen back to Chinese control and to open the port to international trade.

U. S. Ships Barred
American ships and businessmen are barred by Red army order. The new United States note, delivered Aug. 14 at Moscow by Ambassador Walter B. Smith, said Russia will be held responsible for the treatment accorded American interests during the prolonged occupation.

The exchange took place amid these further developments in Soviet-American relations which a new Library of Congress report declared have deteriorated "dangerously."

1. A deadline set by Secretary of State Marshall for review of deadlocked negotiations over Korea's future government arrived with no response whatever from Foreign Minister Molotov or Russian members of a joint commission in session in Korea for more than three months.

2. The state department disclosed that nine nations which will take part in talks on a Japanese peace treaty have agreed generally to a U. S. suggestion that a two-thirds vote, rather than a unanimous one, should govern decisions. The U. S. has rejected a Russian protest that the treaty should be drafted by the big power foreign ministers.

3. Joseph M. Dodge, chief American representative on an allied commission deadlocked more than three months on disputed terms for an Austrian peace treaty, was due to leave Vienna today for consultations in Washington after charging the Russian members had stalled all progress.

4. President Truman told his news conference he still sees no necessity for a special session of Congress this fall but that he would call one if he should deem it required. Rep. Merrow (R-N. H.) of the House foreign affairs committee urged such a session to "act upon the urgent and critical issues of foreign policy."

5. Merrow cited "the Soviet Union's aggressive foreign policy of expansion and ultimate world domination."

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 21 (AP)—Edward Kinser, nine-year-old son of Mrs. Flossie Kinser, was killed tonight in a roadside collision as he rode on the running board of the car of his uncle, Leslie Covey, near the Kinser home.

Nationwide Airlines Ship Makes 1st Stop Here; Work Speeded

The 10-passenger Lockheed Electra pathfinder plane of the Nationwide Airlines, Inc., paid its first visit to Escanaba yesterday morning preparatory to establishment of daily passenger service between Escanaba and Detroit.

Officials of the company here to inspect the work being done on the east-west runway to make it adequate for future DC-3 use were John V. Weesner, of New York City, president and general manager, and Robert Clifford, Detroit, chief pilot.

Previously, a special Escanaba committee had conferred in Menominee with Irving Stahl, manager of Nationwide Airlines, Inc., who informed the group that Escanaba would receive daily service as soon as the east-west runway was extended to 3,000 feet, the minimum required for commercial use.

Those on hand here yesterday to greet the Nationwide officials were Walter Arntzen, chairman of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce; Dudley Jewell, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber and Stanley McWhinney, aeronautics supervisor, Michigan department of aeronautics, Lansing. Arntzen informed the airline officials that work on the east-west runway was approximately 60 per cent complete and would be completed in about two weeks. It is expected that daily service would begin as soon as the runway is 3,000 feet and meets with the approval of traffic officials of Nationwide.

Plans are underway also to provide restaurant service at the Escanaba airport and limousine service from the airport to downtown Escanaba and surrounding communities.

Briefly Told

On Fishing Trip—Carl J. Sawyer, Win Schuldes, Ed Moersch, Parke Sawyer of Escanaba and M. E. Willmott of Iron Mountain will leave today on their annual fishing trip in Ontario, 50 miles northwest of Sault Ste. Marie. They will make a 10-day canoe trip on the Garden river while fishing for rainbow trout.

Plans Addition—The Worth company will build a 38 by 20 foot boiler plant addition to its factory building in North Escanaba this fall, Joseph Worth, Stevens Point, manager of the company, said while on a visit here yesterday.

Wins Essay Award—Carol Jean Pelletier, a junior at St. Joseph's high school and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pelletier of 1515 Third avenue North, has won first place award for an essay written for "Queen's Work," a school magazine. The award of $25 was received Tuesday by Miss Pelletier, and was paid for her essay how to spend your vacation.

Cars Collide—Wednesday evening on Ludington street, two cars were slightly damaged when C. E. Gunderson, Ironwood, traveling east on Ludington street in the inside lane was hit by an automobile driven by Robert Johnson of Wells. Johnson was traveling in the outside lane and attempted to pass a car in front of him. He did not see Gunderson; the fenders of the cars bumped.

Accident on Ludington—Earl Johnson of 1228 South 13th street, driving west on Ludington street and turning to make a left turn, hit a car driven by Barry Newett of 1314 First avenue South, also going west on Ludington. The accident, occurring at 3 p. m., did not cause heavy damage.

Woman Ticketed—The city police issued a traffic violation ticket to Mrs. Isabelle Heino, 819 South 13th street, Thursday, on a charge of reckless driving and failure to have an operator's license. Mrs. Heino hit a car parked at 400 South 16th street while she was driving south on South 16th street. The damaged automobile belonged to Ernest Ekstrom.

State Fair Sidelights

It wasn't just by chance that the state police troopers assigned to duty at the U. P. State Fair happened to include most of the top pistol experts in the police ranks. The best pistol marksmen were given the fair assignment so that they could participate in the U. P. State Fair pistol tournament, of which Spl. Lester Coykendall was tournament manager and range officer.

Today's "picture of the day" in the fair art department is Bo Smith, a portrait in oil by Mrs. Stack Smith, mother of Bo. Mrs. Smith is a local artist with a definite interest in portraiture. She has also entered a number of sketches done recently in the art colony at Saugatuck.

The 4-H club parade drew tremendous applause from the crowd of about 4,000 at the afternoon show yesterday. The boys and girls club members presented an interesting exhibit and some dairy cows that even a neophyte could readily distinguish as super duper cattle.

A not-too-bright fellow walked into the fair headquarters under the grandstand yesterday and asked for directions to the men's rest room. An accommodating state fair employee pointed the way, but the fellow was displeased. "Aw, heck," he said, "I just came from there. That's not the rest room. That's the men's toilet."

It depicts the colorful view over the midway from the windows of the room housing the art department. Mrs. Victor Powers, an Escanaba artist, painted the picture.

Today is children's day at the fairgrounds and special prizes will prevail for all rides until evening. The turnout of youngsters is expected to be the largest of the week.

Demonstration artists at the fair yesterday morning were Mrs. Emil Kronquist, Negaunee, art department judge, and Mrs. Stack Smith, who made portraits of little Peggy Holmquist of Ensign, who was a visitor to the department and consented to pose. Mrs. Kronquist did a water color and Mrs. Smith a pastel.

In the afternoon Mrs. I. F. Gurske, Crystal Falls, made pencil sketches from the art department windows and Betsy Wickman, an Escanaba high school graduate in June who plans to enter an art school this fall, worked on a water color from the windows. The demonstration pictures will be on display in the department.

Dorothy Lang, of Escanaba, has extreme doubts about whether she ever wants to milk another cow. While visiting a cattle exhibit at the U. P. state fair yesterday, Dorothy took a

Forester Assigned To Gwinn District

OVER THOUSAND RECEIVE X-RAY

Chest Examination For TB Proves Popular Fair Feature

"Take a deep breath; hold it; that's all."—Over a thousand U. P. State Fair visitors have heard these words as they had their chests x-rayed in the state health department's mobile x-ray unit at the exhibition building.

The unit is in operation from 1:00 to 9:00 p. m. each day and at times the rate at which x-rays are taken reaches one a minute. At last year's U. P. State Fair, 2,176 had their chests x-rayed and it is predicted that this figure will be exceeded by the time the 1947 fair closes.

The x-ray unit in operation here is one of five used by the Michigan Department of Health in its tuberculosis case-finding program. They are sent to all parts of the state to find the disease in its earliest stages; when it can be cured with the least inconvenience to the patient, his community and the state.

With the x-ray, tuberculosis can be found when there are no obvious symptoms; when the person who has it feels and looks healthy. The disease is uncovered before the characteristic hacking cough, loss of weight and other late signs develop.

Authorities in Michigan predict that the disease once known as the "white plague" will be wiped out as a major public health hazard in the state within the next quarter of a century. They base this prediction on the fact that an effective three-fold control program is now under way in the state. The program is one of case-finding, sanatorium treatment and rehabilitation of those who have been released from sanatoriums.

The modern program was made possible by the development of the small film x-ray—the type used at the fair. The image of the chest is projected onto a negative about two and a quarter inches square. This small film is inexpensive and therefore makes mass x-raying programs possible.

Having a chest x-ray in the State Health Department's unit is quick, painless and there is no inconvenience—no undressing; no red tape. At the Health Department booth in the exhibition building, department employees and local volunteer workers will help you "sign up." Escanaba Girl Scouts will escort you to the big white bus just outside the building and in a few seconds your chest is x-rayed. That's all there is to it. In two or three weeks you will receive a report from the State Health Department's bureau of tuberculosis control in Lansing. The films are carefully checked there by physicians especially trained in tuberculosis control.

European Aid First

SECRETARY of State Marshall spoke with great candor when he told the delegates at the inter-American conference in Brazil Wednesday that the United States has assumed heavy economic burdens in Europe but is not prepared for an extension of the so-called "Marshall Plan" to include Latin American countries.

Ever since the American aid program to European nations was announced, Latin American countries have been seeking an opening to the United States financial trough.

Marshall emphasized that European rehabilitation is vitally important to the entire western hemisphere and that the economic needs in Europe must obviously take precedence over the needs of Latin America.

The conference now under way in Brazil is called solely for the purpose of drawing a treaty for hemispheric defense. The American statesman wisely sidetracked the economic aspects of the Latin American situation in the present discussions, pointing out that this phase of Inter-American relationships will be taken up at the meeting to be held at Bogota next January.

It is not that the United States declines its economic support to the sister republics in the western hemisphere. On the contrary, American cooperation has already been pledged by Secretary Marshall and by his predecessors, Secretary Hull and Secretary Byrnes.

The European situation, however, is of an emergency nature, created as a backwash of war. There is neither starvation nor the danger of economic collapse in Latin America such as exists in Europe today. There is no need for a "Marshall Plan" for South America along the lines of the American program of economic rehabilitation of Europe.

Illegal Fishing

MANISTIQUE residents and particularly Indian Lake frontage owners have reason to be indignant over the pernicious activities of conservation law violators in Indian Lake.

This week a 500 foot set line, containing 500 baited hooks and a large quantity of fish, was discovered in Indian Lake, which happens to be one of the outstanding resort lakes in Upper Michigan. This is not an unusual experience. Illegal set lines and nets have been discovered in Indian Lake year after year. Undoubtedly many others that have been placed in the lake have never come to the attention of the conservation officers.

Indian Lake is more than a resort lake. It provides year around sports fishing for hundreds of persons, including the general public. It is a large lake, but shallow and consequently it offers unusual opportunities for the selfish man who is unconcerned with the law or obligations to fellowmen.

The heavy violations in Indian Lake are taking an alarming toll of fish and it is not surprising that frontage owners on the lake are up in arms and searching for better protection.

Just how this increased protection can be attained is another matter. The petitioners are asking the conservation department to assign a special warden for Indian Lake, but in view of the thousands of lakes in Michigan, it is unlikely that the conservation department could single out one of them for the full time services of a conservation officer.

Nevertheless, it is to be hoped that some method can be established to provide a more vigilant campaign against flagrant fishing violations in inland waters.

International Relations

SEVENTEEN foreign students at Michigan State College will come to the Upper Peninsula on an educational field trip the middle of next month. While on tour, they will study agricultural methods, resort operations and industrial activities in this region.

In the group will be students from China, Egypt, India, Turkey, Ecuador and other foreign countries. They will be returning to their native lands some day with reports of what they saw in the Upper Peninsula, all of which will spread the fame of this region. Upper Peninsula folks, who will have the privilege of meeting these young people from other lands, will have an opportunity to obtain a better understanding of how the other half of the world lives. This is important when one realizes that so much of the trouble we are now having in international relations is due to misunderstanding, fear and suspicion.

Heads and Tails

ALASKA is embarking on a new industry. The Alaskan Fisheries Experimental Commission is developing what look like real market possibilities for 120 billion pounds of salmon waste discarded

World Events Analyzed

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN

Washington (NEA)—The congressional committee investigating the State Department's propaganda activities, headed by Rep. Karl Mundt (R., S. D.), is now set to invade Europe.

They're going to try to find out just how good a job has been done in selling America to the European and also try to find out how many listeners the State Department's radio program, the Voice of America, has there.

Representative Mundt and the rest of the congressmen are apparently sincere in their desire to do a fair job of reporting what they find. The report is supposed to give the rest of Congress and the public an intelligent basis for deciding the future of the department's foreign information activities.

Unfortunately, the committee is starting out handicapped. It's unlikely any of the members will get into Russia, and maybe not into more than one or two of the "curtain" countries. Those are the areas where an evaluation of American influence and prestige is most important and where the State Department is most eager that the "Voice" be heard. Their budget and tentative time schedule calls for only a few days in most places.

ONE TRAINED MAN

Only one committee staff member is really trained to do the job that the committee members themselves will try to do. And he will probably be saddled with the handling of most of the details of moving the group, rather than being free to direct the investigation.

In a brief stay in any foreign city, the best they'll probably be able to do is get to some of the official sources, such as government men, etc. And they will have to consult with the U. S. embassies, too. What these sources will turn up can be gotten just as easily in Washington.

Members of the committee themselves aren't agreed as to how they should proceed over here. One sensible suggestion is that they tear up the schedule and strike out, each on his own, or divide up into smaller groups. The more they conceal the fact that they are U. S. congressmen on an investigation, the better their chances will be of getting at the guts of what they are looking for. No European is going to lay bare his soul, through an interpreter, while a group of plump congressmen sit around taking notes.

QUESTIONING AND OBSERVING

It takes a friendly, but subtle, job of questioning the right people to get a penetrating look at the European mind. And it takes wide-open eyes to see the various shades of American influence expressed in such things as what sheet music and books are being sold and what movies are being shown. These things, too, are part of the State Department's propaganda efforts.

Most of the members of the committee are especially eager to find out just how many Europeans listen to the "Voice" and how effective it is. A cursory questioning of scores of persons by this reporter during a tour of Europe recently, revealed what a difficult job it is going to be to get any kind of an accurate count. Many of the more educated persons, including government officials, teachers, industrialists, etc., know of the program's existence. And if they haven't heard it themselves at one time or another it is merely because they don't have a radio, or one not good enough to tune in on short wave.

But many persons had heard of the "Voice" only because of the press reports of the fight over its existence that had been waged in Congress.

have always understood the word to mean "scrupulously neat"—J. J. G.

Answer: Meticulous is from the Latin meticolosus, "fearful." But that meaning for the English word has long been obsolete. Meticulous now means, "extremely careful of small details; unduly concerned about unimportant matters; so scrupulous as to be finical." Thus, the word applies not only to neatness, but also to any other affair, such as accuracy, speech, manners, honesty.

Salsbury: Will you please give the meaning of the name of the Kansas river Marias des Cygnes?—B. S.

Answer: It's French for "Maraire des swans."

Santa Barbara: I enjoyed your discussion as to why the word sew is pronounced to rhyme with "hoe, toe." Perhaps you'll be interested in knowing that my grandfather, born in Amherst, Mass., in 1819, always pronounced sew to rhyme with "dew."

Answer: Yes, at one time sew was pronounced exactly like the word sue. And show was spelled shew (as it was in the Bible), and pronounced "shoo." But both those pronunciations have long been obsolete.

The spelling "shew" is still occasionally seen, especially in British usage. But it is pronounced "sho" like the spelling "show."

Los Angeles: Recently you wrote, "Each of us should add the word to his vocabulary." Should you not have said, "... our vocabulary"?—J. B.

Answer: Sorry, no. "Each" is singular and means "each one." It should not be followed by a plural pronoun. The sentence is correct as it was written.

Now to Chisel Out a Thing of Lasting Beauty

Good Morning!

CITY OF FLOWERS—Down in Flora, Ill., the residents have purchased 3,000 rambler rose plants and set them out in front and side yards so they may be seen from the street. An additional 1,000 plants will be purchased for planting along the highways leading into the village.

Dunathan

The roses were bought with funds contributed by civic and fraternal organizations and distributed to the residents on their promise to plant and care for the roses.

Some of the rose plants bloomed this year and next year it is expected that Flora, Ill., will be one of the prettiest towns in the United States—pretty because its streets will be lined with blooming roses. Charles A. Crowder of Flora, whose idea it was to plant the roses as a community project, reports that the people in his town have become more civic-minded and the pride in their town has increased.

IN EVERY TOWN—The majority of Escanaba residents are lovers of flowers and there are few yards without them. Many of these flower gardens are, however, located in back yards so they cannot be seen from the street.

Through the city's parks and forestry department considerable progress has been made in making Escanaba's streets and parks more attractive in recent years. Some of the more hardy roses have been planted in the parks and along boulevard streets in Escanaba, yet the general effect continues to be one of colorless neatness. Flowers in the parks are not difficult to grow, for there are many varieties needing little attention. Among these are the petunias, marigolds and poppies; and many perennials such as iris, goldenglow and phlox. Roses? Of course—but it seems unlikely that Escanaba would make a project of rearing them. It is a little town that may be too big for such foolishness.

FOR BUSINESS REASONS—Escanaba is not such a "big town" that its people and others who visit here are uninterested in the attractiveness of the town. Just recently a Chicago woman, after visiting relatives here, complimented Escanaba on the fine appearance of its tree-lined residential streets.

Ludington street, the town's shopping center, need not continue as a sterile avenue of concrete, brick and glass. Certain types of trees are suitable for sidewalk planting on a business street and they are to be found in many of the older communities in the Eastern and Southern United States. Around the base of these trees a few flowers could be planted. A little planting of this kind in each business block along Ludington would add distinction to the street.

The House of Ludington, while located at the east end of Ludington, has made attractive sidewalk plantings and added post lamps that help beautify the whole block.

The city of Escanaba in making postwar plans included a project to boulevard the east end of Ludington street. Eventually this will no doubt be done and the street will be both beautiful and made safer for traffic.

Most cities the size of Escanaba

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Shirley Ann Larkin, 3-year-old Detroit girl, was recovering today, from an operation to correct an upside-down stomach.

Asbury Park, Mich.—Fire swept two boardwalk hotels and forced evacuation of nearly 1,000 guests in seven endangered hotels tonight while tens of thousands week-end guests watched.

Films of the Smeit Jamboree, the Winter Carnival and the World Championship Birling contest will be shown by Harold Gessner at a regular meeting of Escanaba Council, No. 640, Knights of Columbus, Tuesday evening.

Construction of the third floor of the postoffice building has been under way here for the past few days and rapid progress is being made in the work.

Twenty Years Ago

Misery Bay—The removal of the automotive vehicular speed limitations from the Michigan roads has been the subject of many discursive arguments in Misery Bay and environs recently of late days.

New York—Admiral Farragut's powder boy at the Battle of Mobile Bay has seen styles in adventure change many times. But, says he, the opportunities for romantic exploit that face youth of 1927 are the most glamorous.

On the back of a very small and extremely dilapidated automobile which passed through Escanaba yesterday, the following familiar phrase was written: "I do not choose to run in 1928."

Mrs. R. H. James, of Iron Mountain, was named president of the Rebekah lodge for this district at the annual business meeting held in Iron Mountain. Mrs. James succeeds Mrs. Bryson, of Crystal Falls, as executive head of the district organization.

have a central public square or park that helps relieve the monotony of uninterrupted business blocks. Escanaba has none. The planting of trees and flowers along Ludington and other business streets would add to the attractiveness of the city.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS—Although the Delta county court house in Escanaba, and the Escanaba city hall are what might be described as architectural monstrosities, there is no reason why the grounds surrounding them could not be made more slightly with flowers and shrubs. What landscaping has been done is haphazard in appearance and there are few flowers.

The school buildings in Escanaba are, in the majority, unrelieved by flowers and shrubbery. The exception is the Junior High school. The most barren is the Senior High school. It may seem remarkable that, although the Senior High school was built many years ago, trees were planted there by the city only two years ago.

THE LARGER PLAN—As visitors have noted and this column has commented, Escanaba streets and parks are among the most attractive in the Upper Peninsula. The city has long-range plans for continued improvement, including tree planting and general landscaping. To this end the city has established a tree nursery to provide a supply of desirable trees for public planting at low cost.

To point out what has been done and then cite the community rose planting project in Flora, Ill., is not contradictory. For Escanaba streets and parks and public building grounds lack the life and color that only flowers can give.

Q Have many Federal workers been laid off?

A During the first 6 months of 1947 an estimated 78,700 workers were dropped from the Federal pay roll. To meet reduced budgets due to Congressional cuts, there have been additional layoffs since then.

Q Do you have a recipe for tipsy tarts?

A By building up the sides, bake a puff paste in a deep tartlet or any fancy shape. Heat the mixture and permit the gelatin to dissolve. Put in icebox and when nearly cold, beat in 1 cup of fresh fruit chopped fine and sweetened, and two tablespoons each of grapejuice and grapefruit juice.

Flower planting need neither be an expensive nor laborious undertaking if the residents of the city cooperate. Flowers planted in front and side yards satisfy the eye of the property owner and please his neighbors and the visitors who come to a town. There is pleasure in pleasant surroundings and there is profit to the community in which the people take pride in their homes. A city of homes means a more satisfied working population—and a stable supply of labor for that city's industries.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

(EDITOR'S NOTE—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

Washington—James F. Byrnes, trigger-smart former secretary of state now practicing law in Washington, has been following the administration's foreign policy with intense interest. This is particularly true as regards relations with Soviet Russia, with whom Byrnes had protracted, and at times painful, encounters during a number of conferences.

An old friend asked Byrnes if he thought it was possible for the U. S. and the U. S. S. R. to reach a better understanding. This was Byrnes' reply:

"I think it is, and this is my formula. Get people who believe deeply that we can find a basis for working with the Russians. Then support these people to the limit. When they start getting discouraged and cynical, replace them with others who are confident that a solution can be found.

"As is evident, such a program would take time, patience, brains and courage. But I believe it would work. I certainly think it would be worthwhile trying. War is a terrifying alternative to consider."

NOTE: Another old friend recently remarked to Byrnes, "Too bad you resigned, Jimmy." To which Byrnes shot back, "Who said I resigned?"

PERON GUESTS

Republican National Chairman B. Carroll Reece arrived in Buenos Aires several days ago with his wife and daughter for what he described to reporters as "Just a Little Holiday." The GOP chairman was given a 40-dollar-a-day suite in the Argentine capital's swankiest hotel, the Plaza. Officials of the foreign ministry instructed the hostelry's management that all food and drinks ordered by the Reeces be charged to the government. "An automobile with private license plates, rented by the ministry from Buenos Aires' leading funeral parlor, was placed at the visitors' service.

The Reece family joined several other Peron guests in the Plaza. Harold McCormack of the Moore-McCormack Steamship Lines, with his wife, and Edward Fenton, head of the U. S. Public Relations Council, were already installed there on an all-expense basis.

Fenton came to Buenos Aires to negotiate final terms of a contract which, he told newsmen in New York, may involve expenditure of $5,000,000 in the United States to extol the virtues of the Argentine's flamboyant chief executive and his grandiose five-year plan.

The publicist's statement created considerable annoyance in Buenos Aires government circles. Carried by the wire services, it served as the basis for unfavorable comment in several opposition papers. One miffed Peron official remarked: "Mr. Fenton will have to explain away his indiscretion before he talks about anything else."

Agriculture Show In Fair Building Is An Eye-Catcher

One of the interesting exhibits at the Upper Peninsula State Fair that has caught the eyes of visitors at the front entrance of the exhibition building is the Michigan department of agriculture moving lighted display.

The specific work of each department is depicted in three-dimensional lighted picture form on four distinct panels, which automatically change their respective pictures at regular intervals.

The four bureaus are dairying, marketing and enforcement, plant industry and animal industry.

This attractive display will also be shown at the Michigan State Fair in Lansing.

At the left of the state department of agriculture exhibit is the U. S. Forest Service display, which is featured by a lighted woodland scene, also in third-dimension, depicting a crew of lumberjacks at work.

On the main floor of the exhibition building are entries in the horticulture and agriculture department contests, scores of tasty vegetables, fruits and grains that are a tribute to the ability of Upper Peninsula farmers.

The U. S. department of agriculture also has an attractive exhibit designed to point out the department's work in combating blight in the Upper Peninsula, a tree disease that endangers stands of white pine.

Moral: Try To Keep Your Enemies Alive

New York — (AP)—Deaths of friends or enemies has more effect on most people than they realize, says Dr. J. L. Moreno, psychiatrist, writing in Sociometry.

Each individual, he says, is part of an intimate structure, which comprises his friends, associates and even enemies. Whenever one of the persons in this structure drops out, he is likely to be replaced by another. But a time comes when there is less and less replacing as the others in the group die.

Dr. Moreno says the effect on an individual paves the way for premature aging, sickness and the hastening of death.

Pollution Hearing Given Manistique, Other Cities

Manistique and four other Upper Peninsula cities yesterday cited reasons why they have been unable to correct their sewage disposal problems in a hearing before the Michigan Stream Control Commission held in the court house at Escanaba.

The cities have been notified by the commission, some as early as 1938, that they must halt the pollution of public waters by dumping untreated sewage into streams or the Great Lakes. Following the hearing here the commission will consider the arguments presented by the cities and decide whether further action is required and what action shall be taken.

Manistique was cited before the commission for the hearing for failure to correct a sewage disposal problem in which the city discharges its raw sewage into the Manistique river and thence into Lake Michigan. Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the commission, told the Manistique delegation that signs on the Manistique beach front, conducting the water for public bathing cannot be removed until the pollution is ended.

Representing Manistique at the hearing were City Manager James D. Dickson, Mayor William Berger, City Attorney G. S. Johnson and Councilmen William Sellman and A. W. Heitman. The city manager advised the commission that Manistique has sewage collection, and treatment project under consideration which would cost an estimated $612,897 total.

Adams said that so far as the state is concerned, $250,000 would provide a treatment plant to meet the state's requirements. Manistique's representatives also cited the need of their city for "complete over-hauling" of the water supply system. That was placed first on the proposed projects list, they said, although they recognized the need for sewage treatment to end contamination of the river and lake.

The problem at the city of Negaunee was described as special and "peculiar" by the commissioners. Negaunee spokesmen said the mining companies control the shores of Partridge Creek and Goose Lake, contaminated by Negaunee's sewage. The contaminated waters, they contend are not public waters and therefore no public health threat is imminent. Use of the waters is limited because of their private ownership.

Representing Negaunee were Mayor Everett Pichel, City Attorney Michael F. DeFaut, Alderman John Williams and Charles Ruhanen, city superintendent of public works. The Iron River delegation was composed of Mayor Joseph Carlson, City Manager D. M. Young, and Commissioners Robert Saxon and P. L. Boyington. Iron River was cited before the commission for contaminating Iron River with raw sewage. Iron River had advised the stream control commission that it would provide sewage treatment by 1952 and

Former Resident Passes

Word has been received by Mrs. Estella Bergesen of Isabella, Ensign R. 1, that her brother, George Gates Sexton, son of the late John Sexton of Kate's Bay, died Wednesday, Aug. 6, in Denver, Colorado, following an attack of flu, at the age of 78 years, 6 months. Two brothers, Theodore H. of Marquette, Mich., and Harvey J. of Atascadero, Cal., and two sisters, Cora Quimby, of South Bend, Ind., and Estella Bergesen of Isabella.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Monday, Aug. 11 at the mortuary with Rev. George Schafer, officiating. Robert Harper, soloist, sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and was accompanied by Audrey Hale, organist. Interment was in Fairmont cemetery, Denver.

Maple Ridge To Vote On Purchase Of New Fire Truck, Hall

Voters of Maple Ridge township will decide on the proposed authorization of the Maple Ridge Township board to purchase a new, modern fire truck and build a new fire hall, at the special election on August 26, it was announced yesterday by Walter Mannie, township supervisor.

The estimated cost of the project is $8,500, Mr. Mannie said, and funds to fully cover this amount already are in the township treasury's surplus, so that no special tax will be required to cover the expenditure.

The new fire hall would be located in Rock, on a site next to the town hall.

The fire-fighting equipment in the township at present is over 25 years old and is inadequate and it is the opinion of the board that replacement of the equipment and building a fire hall would be one of the wisest ways of using the surplus in the treasury.

Rapid River

Karasti-Roberts
Rapid River Mich.—White gladioli artistically arranged among the tapers and vigil lights on the altar of St. Anthony's church in Gwinn made a beautiful setting for the wedding of Miss Gladys Karasti daughter of August Karasti of Rapid River and Paul Gordon Roberts son of Mrs. Annie Roberts of Princeton. The vows were spoken at an 8 o'clock nuptial high mass. Rev. Father George Stunbeck performed the double ring ceremony. St. Anthony's choir sang the music of the wedding mass and the traditional bridal marches were played by the church organist. "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" was sung as a recessional.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white satin and chiffon, the satin bodice had a sweetheart neckline, the sleeves tapering to points over the wrist and the skirt formed a full length train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls, as her only jewelry she wore a single strand of pearls, the bridegroom's gift. She carried a bouquet of white roses centered with gardenia. Mrs. Theodore Valeska, a sister of the groom was maid of honor. Arne Karasti, uncle of the bride was best man.

Russel Roberts and Edward Roberts, brother and nephew of the groom ushered. The maid of honor wore a gown of powder blue net over taffeta, her flower headpiece and shoulder length veil of the same shade.

Mrs. Karasti, stepmother of the bride, wore a black crepe dress with white accessories; her corsage was of white gladioli. Mrs. Roberts, the groom's mother, wore a medium blue crepe dress with black accessories; her corsage was white gladioli. Mrs. Olga Karasti, grandmother of the bride, with whom the bride made her home, wore a blue crepe dress with black accessories; corsage of white gladioli. A wedding breakfast was served for the bridal party at the Bear Chateau in Negaunee, at 12:30 a wedding dinner was served for 32 guests at the Gwinn Inn. White gladioli and a tiered wedding cake centered the appointments of the bridal table. In the evening a wedding reception was held at the Eben Hall which was largely attended by relatives and friends. Out of town guests at the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. August Karasti, daughters, Mildred, Irene and Laverne and Lloyd Stenlund of Rapid River, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Karasti, Arne Karasti, Mrs. Joe Benesh and children of Menominee, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Ahola and children of Negaunee, Mr. and Mrs. John Waldo, Mrs. Olga Karasti, Mrs. Toivo Johnson, Miss Catherine Brown of Eben, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Lemeaux of Marquette, Edward Roberts Jr., Trenary, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Schallow of Chicago.

The happy couple left on a week-end trip of undisclosed destination.

For her going away dress the bride wore a white and brown sheer dress with matching accessories. The bride, a graduate of Ferris Institute is a member of Kappa Delta Phi Sorority, until recently she was employed as bookkeeper at the Unity Co-op store in Eben. The groom served 21 months in the navy and is attending Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton. The young couple will live in Houghton while the groom continues his studies there.

Wage War On Weeds

How About That Weedy Lot?

By DR. FRANK THONE

Science Service Editor in Biology

You have compelled your rag-weeds to stop shedding their noxious hayfever pollen. You have given your poison ivy its death-stroke. Is there anything else worth a shot before you cease firing?

If there is a neglected, weed-ridden vacant lot in your neighborhood, it should by all means have your attention. It may have been your community Victory Garden during the war, and left fallow since. It may be the property of absentee owners, who do not even know what an eyesore it is to people who have to pass it every day. Whatever the cause, if it harbors weeds it is ipso facto breeding weed seeds, some of which may find their way into your garden or onto your carefully tended lawn, there to lurk over winter and come up to trouble-making existence next spring.

Other Noxious Weeds

Some of the weeds on such places, though less directly harmful than ragweed, cocklebur and poison ivy, are bad enough neighbors to be worth the trouble of getting rid of them. Jimsonweed and burdock are ill-smelling. Dandelion and goatsbeard and thistle loose parachute-borne seeds into the wind. Wild hemp may induce crazy experiments on the part of idle kids. Fortunately, the naturalized, wild-growing hemp has so low a content of the active principle of marihuana that there is little real danger from it. Nevertheless, just to know that the youngsters are fooling with the weed is enough to give one the squirms. So why not down the lot of them, while your sprayer is still loaded?

The property isn't yours, of course—if it were, you'd have cleaned up the weed situation long ago. However, objections from the owner are not likely; either he doesn't know about the weeds, or if he does he also knows that there is an ordinance requiring him to keep them scythed down. (That ordinance, by the way, should be amended to permit or even require the use of 2,4-D or other potent herbicide.) Anyway, he won't object to an act on your part that is at once altruistic towards him, a gesture of good citizenship towards your neighbors and a blow for the freedom of your own next year's garden from quite so many alien weeds.

For once, you will not need to be quite so cautious as you swing the nozzle of your sprayer. Except where the weeds lot adjoins property with flowers or shrubbery or a vegetable garden (perhaps your own) you can let the spray swish where it will. This is massacre: you are out to kill everything in sight.

Everything, that is, except the grass that may be trying to get a foothold among these strutting vegetable bullies. You don't want to kill that. But if you are using 2,4-D you can't kill it, for practically all species of grass are highly resistant to its action. By laying low the overshadowing weeds you are giving the grass a better chance to take possession of the whole terrain, and eventually make a slightly sod out of what is now a hobo jungle.

Look at the Garden

When you have made a clean-up of this neighborhood eyesore, you might go and take one last look at your own vegetable garden. How much of it is still producing late crops, how much has been cleared of everything useful and is turning into a small weed-lot on your own premises? It would of course be ill judgment to lay down a death-spray on squash and tomato vines, on turnips and carrots still in the ground, on parsnips that will stay there through the winter. But it would be well worth while to make an end of the weeds where the lettuce once was, where straggling pea-vines have been picked bare.

No harm will be done by this late assault on the idle spots in your garden. Long before next spring the 2,4-D will have lost its potency through the strange power of the soil (and especially the swarming micro-life in it) to neutralize just about everything. By next April your garden will be innocent again—even better for having had this last chemical weeding done on it before its winter sleep.

So now you are ready to put your spray-gun up for the season. But before you do so be sure to clean it out, down to the last chink and cranny. If you do not, you will have trouble next spring when you first spray DDT or other insecticides on your vegetable or flower garden. If there is any lingering 2,4-D or ammonium sulfamate in your sprayer, you will surely regret it. Never forget that these two chemicals are to plants what mustard gas or phosgene would be to you, and scrub your sprayer accordingly.

Info On Pleasure Boats Is Sought In Study Of Harbors

Studies of small boat harbors on the Great Lakes with the idea of providing shelter areas so located and spaced as to greatly reduce the hazards of recreational craft navigation on the Great Lakes has been undertaken by the Corps of Engineers of the War Department, it is announced by Col. J. O. Colonna, district engineer for the corps in the Milwaukee district.

In connection with the studies, a questionnaire form will be mailed to all owners of registered inboard motor and sailing craft in the Great Lakes region with the request that they indicate thereon certain data relating to the usage of their boat during the 1947 season.

From the information so furnished on the return questionnaires it will be possible for the Engineers Corps to determine where the greatest need for harbors of refuge exists.

Forms will be mailed to owners during the month of September and it is requested by the Corps that they be returned by November 15 of this year.

The studies are being made in response to specific directives of Congress.

More Blood Donors Needed — Clinic Here Aug. 25-26

Munising—George Goss, Alger Red Cross chapter chairman, said yesterday that more blood donors are needed to give blood at the clinic to be held here Aug. 25 and 26.

Although, at present, the local Red Cross chapter and various or-ganizations throughout the coun-ty have signed up approximately 90 prospective donors, Goss re-marked, that the rejection of some of these donors because of infected blood would possibly re-sult when they appear at the clinic. To offset this possibility and to afford the chapter with enough donors to enable them to reach the county quota of 100 units set for the clinic, the chair-man urges those persons who have not signed up to do so.

All blood contributed during the course of this clinic will be processed into plasma at the state health laboratories and then returned here for the sole use of this county. Except for the cost of administration, the plasma will be available, free of cost, to all patients in such need, Goss said.

A blood donor need only spend 15 or 20 minutes at the clinic when he gives his blood, Goss pointed out, and added that re-freshments will be provided for all donors during the two days of the drive.

Persons may register for a blood donation and make an ap-pointment for any hour during the two days by phoning the health department, phone 297 or by filling out the coupon which appeared in this newspaper and sending it to Mr. Goss at 120 East Superior street.

Nelson's Cloverland Creamery Established In Enlarged Quarters

Another monument to School-craft county's growth and prog-ress has reached completion. Scaffolding and the other litter incidental to building operations have been removed and Nelson's Cloverland Creamery, enlarged and extensively remodeled, gives impressive tone to River street.

"I don't know whether we'll have anything in the nature of a grand opening," said Walter Nel-son, co-partner with his brother Malcolm in the business. "It has taken such a long time to get necessary material that construc-tion has dragged on and on and getting settled in new quarters has been by easy stages, so taking over has become old stuff."

The members of the company, however, are justly proud of their new establishment and visitors are welcome to come and inspect it at any time.

Office and store alterations, while far from the biggest change in the setup, are the most impres-sive from the spectator's stand-point. The entire office has been streamlined and remodelled. The addition of a private office to the north of the main office affords roominess that was at a premium before. Sound proof ceiling, ter-razzo floor and glass brick along with enamel paint give the invit-ing tone, class and impression of cleanliness which one looks for in plants of this kind.

The front of the building is in two toned pastel tint—a Mexican color scheme much in vogue in Southern California. Naturally the rounded front, generous use of glass brick and the vivid coloring of the stucco on brick, all impart a distinctive touch to the estab-lishment.

Two Story Warehouse

Of greater importance to the company, however, is the 55 by 40 foot two story structure at the rear of the creamery. This build-ing, built of cement blocks and entirely fireproof will serve as combination garage and ware-house. On the second floor will be stored much of the companies supplies that must not come in contact with moisture. Heretofore this has been considerable of a problem as the steamy dampness of the creamery seeped through the second story of the building where the supplies were kept.

New Equipment

In addition to the new construc-tion and remodeling, the firm has installed new equipment and will install more as it be-comes available for delivery. Al-ready installed and operating are additional refrigeration equip-ment, a new 60 H. P. boiler with a 45-foot stack, and a combination refrigerator truck for hauling milk and ice cream. This latter is an addition to the company's fleet of eight trucks.

The remodeling and construc-tion work was done by the GAW construction company of Mani-stique, of which Gust Westmark is manager.

Employ 20 People

The Nelson Cloverland Cream-ery started originally in a small building at the rear of the State Savings Bank. When the firm moved to its present site on River street, in 1939, the brothers thought that they were just about fixed for the future, but before long they found that their quar-ters were becoming cramped and further expansion was in order. They now have a fleet of eight trucks, employ twenty people and in addition to their present plant, maintain a warehouse near the bridge on River street where they keep their dairy feed supplies.

Plan Meeting To Discuss Forming Of Municipal Band

The formation of a city band to operate on a permanent basis will be discussed at a meeting sponsored by the Chamber of Com-merce at the court house at 7:30 Monday evening.

If enough interest is shown a permanent administrative organiza-tion will be set up. Officers will be elected and means of financing such a band and putting it on its feet will be decided upon.

All civic organizations are being asked to be represented at the meeting as well as any individual interested in securing a municipal band. Those who become members of the band are also urged to be present. It is especially urged that all former members of the local Woodmen of the World band at-tend the meeting.

The largest single occupation group in America outside of farming is truck drivers—there are 4,750,000 of them.

MAY BE NAMED
SHELTER PORT

War Department Making
Survey Of Great Lakes Harbors

Designation of the Manistique port as a harbor of refuge where recreational and other light craft may seek shelter in rough weather may result from a survey now being made by the War Department Corps of Engineers at Milwaukee.

In a news release recently sent out by Col. J. O. Colonna, of the Milwaukee office, it was announced that at the present time the corps of engineers has underway studies of proposed small boat harbors on the Great Lakes in response to specific directives of Congress. The ultimate goal of this program is to provide shelter areas so located and spaced as to greatly reduce the hazards of recreational craft navigation on the Great Lakes.

In connection with these studies, the report says, a questionnaire form will be mailed to all registered owners of inboard motor and sailing craft in the Great Lakes region with the request that the owners fill these out and indicate on them certain data relating to the usage of their boats during the 1947 season. From the information furnished on returned questionnaires it will be possible for the corps to determine where the greatest need for harbors of refuge exist.

The forms will be mailed to owners during the month of September and are to be returned by November 15.

In view of the fact that the Manistique harbor is due for extensive improvement in which the harbor will not only be deepened but shallow submerged rock at the entrance will be removed, it is not unreasonable to presume that Manistique's will be among the harbors designated.

UP Women Shine In Greater Display Of Foods and Clothing

In the home economics and needlework exhibits at the Upper Peninsula State Fair, Upper Michigan women have entered twice as much baked goods as in previous years, three times as much canned goods and four times the amount of needlework. Unlimited sugar, the gas to transport the showpieces, has increased competition.

Ever since the first fair in Leipzig, years ago, women as well as men have taken pride in displaying what they have wrought. Exhibiting and competing for awards based on predetermined standards has added incentive to many a homemaker's life.

If the hours spent on each display of handiwork, canning and baking were added together, the sum could well result in figures approximating the yearly tax-roll of the United States.

All articles displayed are of exceptional quality. A talk with Mrs. Ammel, assistant superintendent of the department, brought forth, "Every jar and pound of baked goods looks good enough to eat right here."

One little lady, especially interested in the yards of lace tablecloths and bedspreads, said in regard to fairs: "They make the year worth living." She added, "If there were no fairs, how could we exchange the many little tricks and delicacies which make for better living?"

On entering the exhibition room one is greeted with a montage of lovely art fabricated into beautiful rugs, tableware, scarfs, and a hundred other home items. It doesn't take an expert to realize the amount of work and artistic taste which went into the making of these.

On the left one sees row on row of canned fruits, vegetables and meat. Special requirements are met before a jar can be exhibited. Included in the display, and unusual, are three jars of mushrooms. Meats include fish, chicken, pork, beef and pigs-feet. Pears in various hues, for salads are also in the array of fine foods.

On display, further over, baked goods will be found. A cherry cake, burnt sugar cake, and several pasties are among the many entries. It would seem quite a problem to judge which was the best.

School exhibits, (art, handicraft, and educational posters) flank the home economics display on the left and an exhibit of hobby-craft on the right. Among the many items in the latter is a hand-carved village, an Indian settlement, old coins, stamps, and war souvenirs, such as table covers from India, a doily of hand-woven flax, an Italian bedspread and many other exotic articles.
